Functional Anatomy of the Equine Foot in Health and Disease

May 11th & 12th 2019, Brisbane, QLD

Professor Robert M Bowker

Professor Bowker is head of the Hoof Laboratory Research Team based at Michigan State University and a principle lecturer at the Australian College of Equine Podiotherapy.

PhD, Neurobiology, University of Pennsylvania, 1979 VMD,

Veterinary Medicine, University of Pennsylvania, 1973 BS,

Biology/Chemistry, Springfield College, 1969

The studies of Dr. Robert Bowker are the cornerstone to the barefoot industry. They support how beneficial it is to manage horses barefoot and how detrimental it is to shoe horses with steel shoes or as Bob says peripheral loading devices.

Professor Bowker concentrates on equine foot function at a cellular level, demonstrating the relationship between internal and external hoof structures in both health and disease. He also discusses the effects of diet, exercise and dental hygiene. In his lectures he relates musculoskeletal and fascial systems of the entire horse.

His research interests focus on navicular syndrome, laminitis and upper body changes in the anatomy in terms of how our husbandry practices and their contributions affect these issues.

Professor Bowker's conferences are suitable not only for hoof-care practitioners and equine therapists of all modalities (vets, musculo skeletal therapists, dentists, saddle fitters) but also for progressive horse owners who want the best for their horses.

Time : 9 am—4 pm each day

Cost : $220 per person

Venue : Dayboro Hall, Bradley St, Dayboro, QLD

Morning & afternoon tea included, byo lunch

Monthly Ride Fees for 2019

Club fees for the monthly rides for 2019:

- For club members, our ride fee is $10, and this includes lunch.
- For visitors, it is $25, and this also includes lunch.
- The fee is the same whether you stay for lunch or not.
- Even though the ride fee includes lunch it is also raising funds for the club.
- The visitor fee is higher because part of this goes to TRA for insurance.
- For members/volunteers that are doing sign-on before a ride, a sign-on price list will be available on the table stating that the fee is the same whether you have lunch or not.

Horse Health Declaration Form

We have been notified by the Show Society that we all now must fill out a Horse Health Declaration form every time we do a ride from the show-grounds. I have attached the form for you to download. We will also keep some in the shed in case you forget to bring one.

We have revised the Horse Health Declaration form by adding our Club and the TRA logo. If you have old copies printed off then they are quite okay to use, also there are old copies in the club shed that we will use until they are all gone.

Once these forms are filled out, they will be given to the show society to keep on file after each ride.

On the declaration form, you must write in your PIC number for your property where your horses are kept. You can obtain a PIC number by clicking on the following link. Just fill out all your information and submit it then you will be sent back a PIC number.

MARCH RIDE REPORT

By Debra Shanahan (Lead Drover)

The season may have changed to Autumn, but for the Dayboro Trail Riders monthly ride the temperature was a very summer-like 34 degrees. Regardless of the lingering hot weather eighteen riders turned up for our ride held on the 24th March. Even our girls from Kilcoy arrived to enjoy our four hour ride to beautiful Baxter Creek.

We departed the Showground through Tullamore Park and crossed the very busy Williams Street, much to the delight of the Bakery customers as they enjoyed their morning Latte's. We followed Railway Street to the Bowls Club then crossed Mt Samson Road to Morris Street and then headed up Laidlaw Street to Juffs Road West. Once we had crossed the causeway over the North Pine River and made our way along Glover road, we then left the roads behind us and were riding in lovely grassy paddocks, which is the very reason many of us travel to Dayboro; to get away from the busy roads and relax.

Having departed on our ride a little late, we had to keep everyone moving along to make our destination and be back for lunch. With Janelle, Geoff and myself taking our turn of lifting the many 'hot wire' fences for everyone to ride under and Maja jumping off to close other gates behind us we were through the laneway in Neil Richardson's in record time. You could pick the riders that were here for the first time. They were the ones that had a look of trepidation as they rode their horses under four electrified wires while we held them up on a thin length of wood (not that we have dropped a fence on anyone yet!) Thanks to the Newell's (a new property owner) giving us permission to traverse their paddock, we were able to continue on our usual route that takes us into Dick and Jenny Baker's property.

As we stopped on the ridge for some saddle adjustments and girths to be tightened, we had time to take in the vista of hills and valleys as we looked toward Ocean View. Even Maja and Gabrielle from Switzerland and Germany, countries renowned for their spectacular scenery, were impressed with the beauty of the mountains that surround Dayboro. After the storms that brought much needed rain to the district, the previously dry creeks were running once again and the grass was a brilliant green. Our regulars who have ridden these trails many times over the years were just as amazed at how the valley had come alive after the rain.

With 1800 acres to explore we are spoilt for choice when it comes to tracks to ride. So, we continued our ride further and further up the valley, criss-crossing the creek and giving the horses plenty of opportunity to get a drink and to cool their legs. We then made our way into yet another hidden gully that we have not explored before, then we began our climb out of the valley and up to Rowe Road.

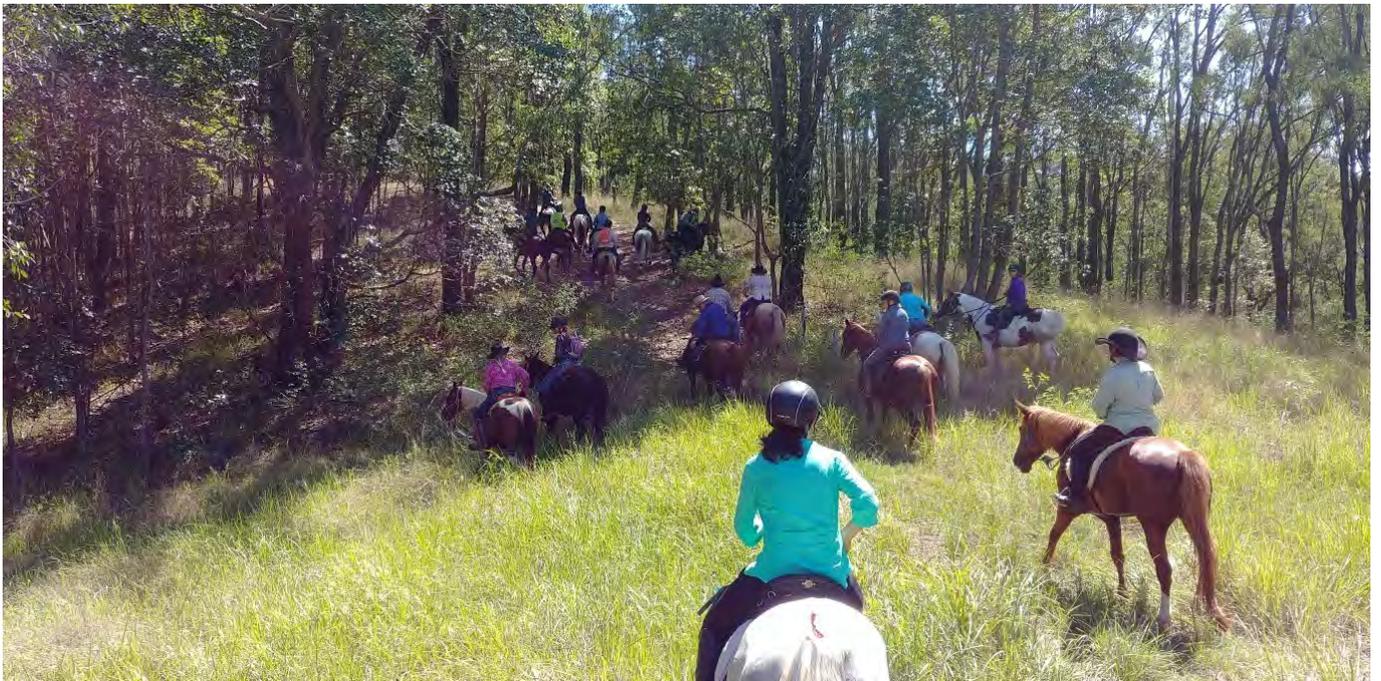

The horses had to tackle a little bit of road riding on our homeward journey, but we soon made our way back into Baker's property to avoid the stony stuff. A dam along the way was a perfect photo opportunity and a welcome rest spot for the horses, with some enjoying a play in the water while others preferred to nibble at the lily pads.

Leaving Baxter Creek behind, we made our way out onto Strain Road and had a short ride down to the end of Rowe Road before crossing the North Pine River at the bridge on Laceys Creek Road. Once we had made our way up Cruices Hill we were able to avoid the traffic once again by heading down Laura Lane to the trail that takes us to Riverview Court. Even with two green horses and a hot day for our ride, we had kept a nice pace going all morning, arriving back at the Club House at 1pm after riding approximately eighteen kilometres. The ride may have been a bit longer than usual, but the destination was well worth it.

All the horses were hosed down and left to relax and enjoy a well-deserved rest while we had our lunch. Most of us were happy to collapse onto a chair with a cold drink. But, for a couple of Club Members there was no time to relax. Julie hauled the barbeque out to start cooking (hot work when you're still wearing riding gear) and Janelle laid out the rest of the food for us to make our lunch. We then had time to sit and chat, before heading home to tell our non-horsey partners and friends all about our morning spent on horseback.

Club Chef Julie and Sous Chef Kerry hard at work.

Trail Boss Debra— No, I did not pose for this! 😊

Equine PPID – Trail Riders Newsletter

Equine Par Pituitary Intermedia Dysfunction (PPID), formerly known as “Equine Cushing’s Disease” is one of the most common problems affecting the endocrine (hormonal) system of the horse. It is related to Cushing’s disease in humans and dogs but it is important to note that it is not the same disease. It is seen in horses generally older than 15 years old and is more common in ponies.

In the brain, the hypothalamus and pituitary gland are the “command centre” for the production of hormones. This fine balance of hormone production is responsible for maintaining and controlling normal bodily functions. Horses with PPID have degeneration of the nerves in the hypothalamus, leading to imbalances in normal production and function in the pituitary gland. This results in increased levels of hormones including cortisol and ACTH, which results in the symptoms that we see with the disease.

Horses suffering from PPID can have a range of clinical signs. The classic sign of a horse with PPID is a long, curly hair coat (“hirsutism”) although not all affected horses develop this sign. It has been suggested that this often develops much later in the course of the disease. Other signs include repeated bouts of laminitis, abnormal fat distribution (“pot belly”), increased eating and drinking, poor performance and recurring infections.

Diagnosis of PPID is usually through a blood test, looking for increased levels of ACTH. More extensive testing may be used in certain circumstances. If your horse is diagnosed as having PPID there is no cure, however there are medical treatments available. Your horse will also require good routine healthcare including good quality nutrition, farriery, dentistry and worming.

If you feel that your horse is showing signs of PPID, and you wish to find out more information, we strongly recommend that you contact your veterinarian to discuss diagnostic and treatment options. UQ VETS are open 6 days/ week as well as 24hrs on call for all emergencies on 3425 1544.
